Good Green Stuff

Looking for a clean green boost to your smoothies? FODMAP and vegan-friendly company Nuzest claim they have the solution. Good Green Stuff is a feel-good superfood powder featuring over 75 ingredients that have been selected in their most bio available form, based on the most scientific research. Just Fruit and Vege is another popular product in the Nuzest range. The smoothie powder contains five fruits, five vegetables and European golden pea protein. The company was created in 2005 when Trevor Bollard's daughter, Monique, was diagnosed with Multiple Sclerosis at age 23. This led them both to chasing experts all over the world seeking answers. They met with naturopaths, neurologists, nutritionists and other industry leaders, before realising that good nutrition and a healthy lifestyle were key to managing the disease. Nuzest products are free from the typical allergens – dairy, soy, gluten, nuts, eggs, corn, GMOs, sugar, artificial colours, preservatives and fillers. nuzest.com.au

Coconut 'HairFood'

Coconut oil has traditionally been used in coastal and tropical regions as a food, medicine, cosmetic and sun protector. It has been widely embraced as an effective skin conditioner with its medium-chain triglycerides which deeply penetrate, moisturise and act as a protective barrier against the ageing effects of environmental and free radical damage. Coconut Tree introduces the ultimate range of 'hairfood' products to deeply nourish, hydrate and protect all types of tresses. Using a base of pure, 100 percent certified organic coconut oil derived from the South Pacific islands, the powerful hair heroes are enhanced with Argan oil, botanical extracts and vitamins to add shine, softness and lustre. Coconut Tree products are free from all nasties such as synthetic colours and fragrances, silicones, sulphates, parabens, glycols and mineral oils.
